

The Monster Under The Stairs

By

Neil Gowing

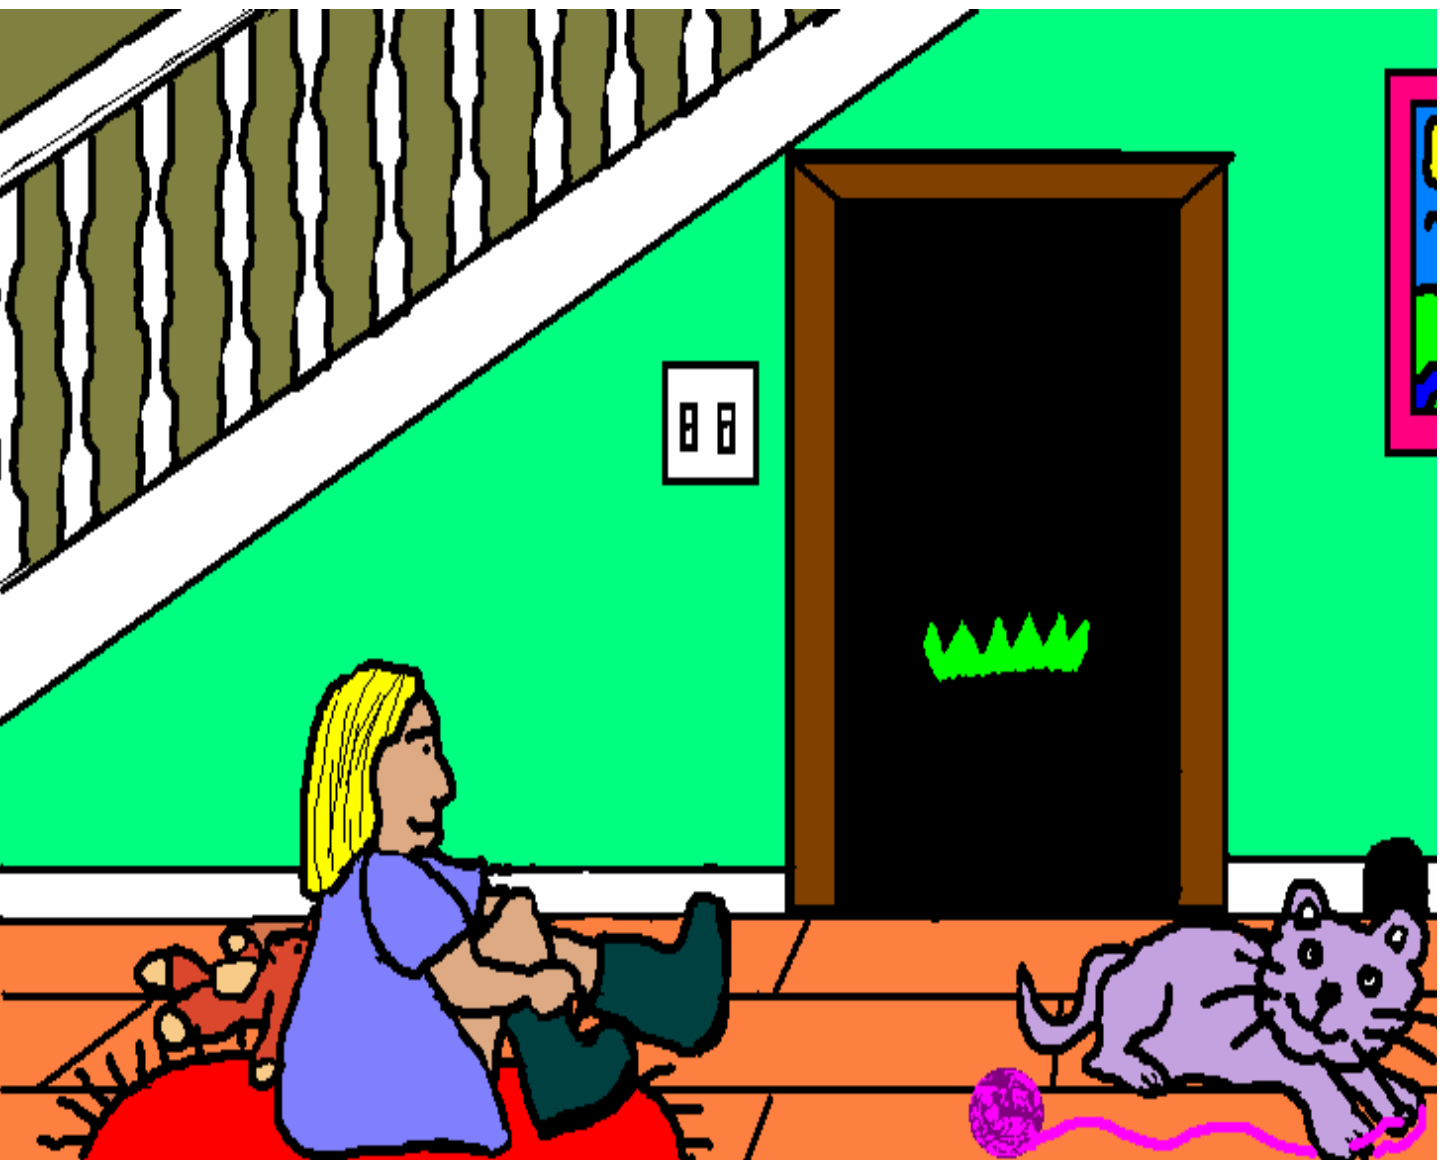

There's a monster under the stairs, his eyes are shiny and red.

There's a monster under the stairs, with horns on top of his head.

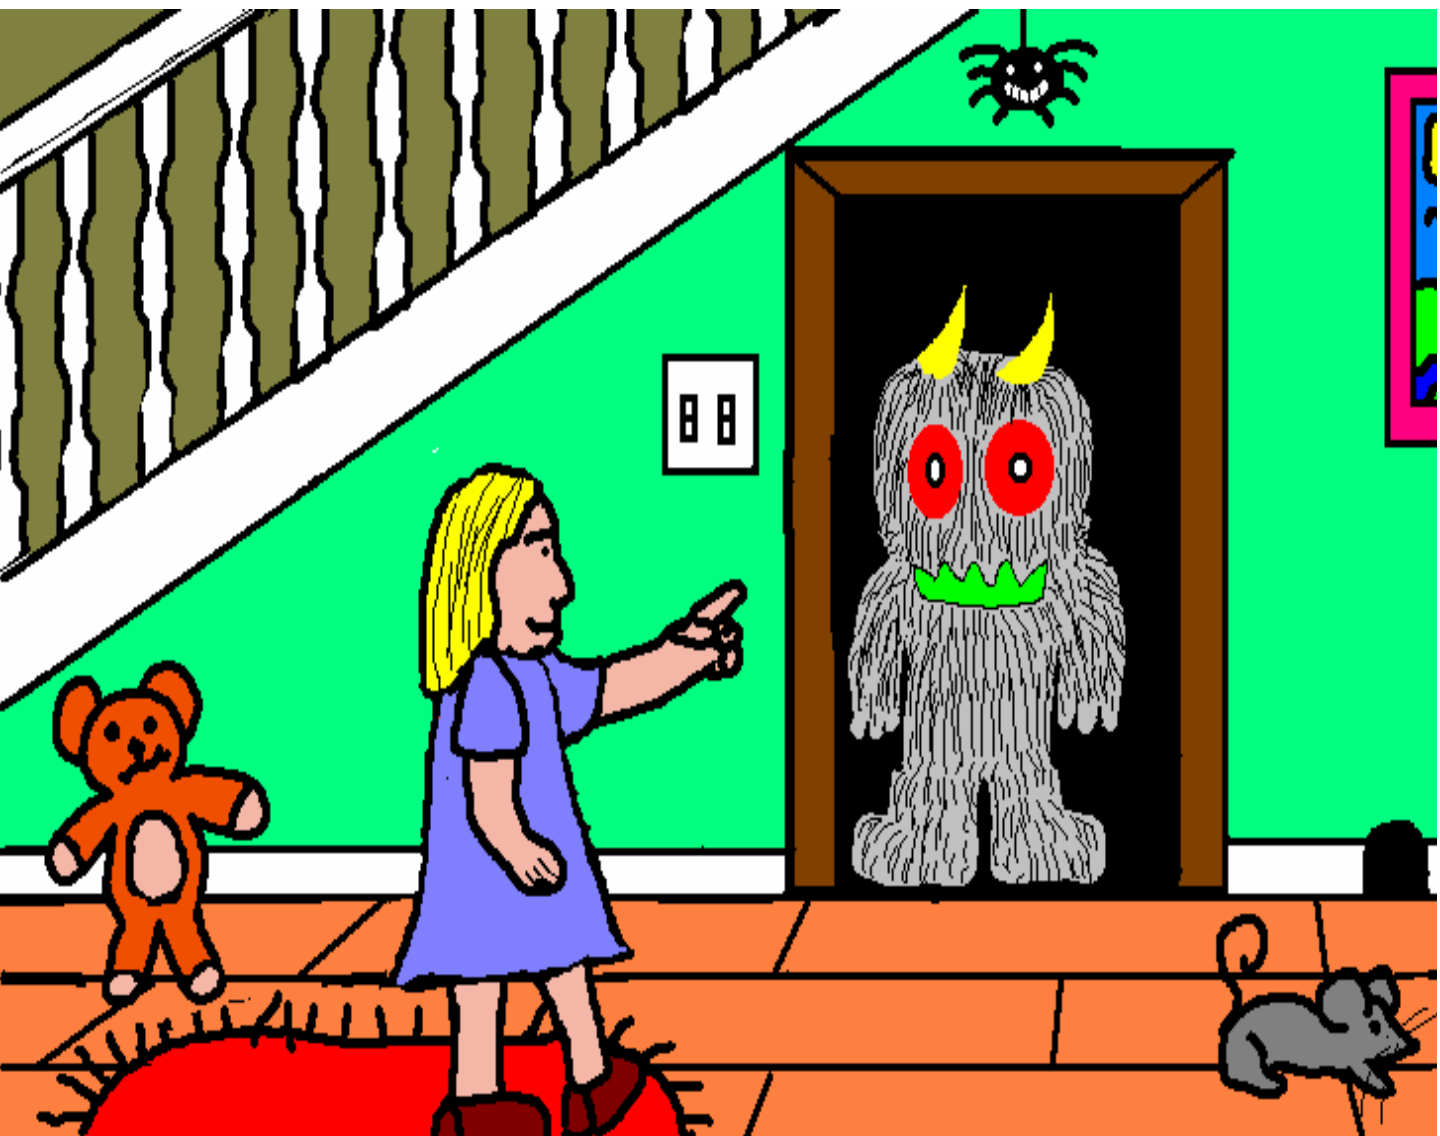

There's a monster under the stairs, his teeth are pointed and green.

There's a monster under the stairs, the biggest that I've ever seen.

There's a monster under the stairs, but he can't give me a fright

Because the monster under the stairs disappears when I turn on the light.
